Launch and Description of the Queen of the Pacific.

SERIOUS ILLNESS OF JOHN McDONOUGH, THE ACTOR.

The Attempt to Secure Admission of New Mexico Exposed—Land Grant Notes.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The Tribune has the following: Cramp & Sons launched at their ship building yard in Philadelphia recently the steamship Queen of the Pacific, for the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company. She was christened as she touched the water by Miss Cole, of Staten Island. She is built of iron, and when she reaches Portland will be the strongest and finest specimen of marine architecture in the Pacific trade. She is built of iron, is 330 feet in length, 38½ feet beam, 23 feet depth of hold, and has capacity for 2500 tons of cargo. Her accommodations for cabin passengers are different from those usually provided upon sea going vessels, there being 49 staterooms on the upper deck and 13 on the main deck, fitted up tastefully and even elegantly. The staterooms are 10 feet long and 7 feet wide, thus being more spacious than usual. In addition there are four bridal rooms on the upper deck, which are to be furnished in the best manner. The dining saloon is 80 feet long and 30 feet wide, the joiner work being like that of the City of Puebla, acknowledged to be superior to anything ever seen on steamships. The social hall is a spacious apartment, which will be furnished with a fine library and piano. All of the latest improvements have been applied to compound engines and boilers to make them serviceable, durable and economical. The promenade deck extends from the pilot house to the stern. The ship is brigantine rigged, with two iron masts. She will be supplied with steam power for handling cargo and steering the vessel, and with electric lights.

Desert Land Grant Operations.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The Times thus summarizes its Washington dispatches: Under operation of the desert land bill, so callously championed in the Senate by Sargent of California, it was possible for a few persons to grab large bodies of arable lands. This was done by using the names of friends and retainers of those who were in the plot, and by having early and exclusive information of the progress and exact character of the bill, the schemers were able to begin operations on a large scale in California before their less fortunate fellow citizens knew what was going on. When this bill was before the senate a Colorado senator objected to its character, whereupon Colorado was taken out of the number of states to which its provisions were to apply, leaving only California, Nevada, Oregon and the territories in the bill. The first named state appears to have been the only one for which the operations of the bill were intended. It is now proposed to enact a law for the reclamation of desert lands in Colorado, but the lands are to be leased at a fixed price and not sold. The desert land grants dispose of absolute titles to grants by whole sections, while the Colorado bill will lease the lands in tracts of 5000 acres each.

The Northern Pacific Land Grant.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Tribune editorial: A letter on the affairs of the Northern Pacific railroad says that the rapid construction of last season on both sides of the continent has left only 650 miles of road yet to be built. It is expected the entire route between St. Paul and Duluth and Puget Sound will be opened in 1884. The company claims that its land grant is not affected by the failure to complete the road by the 4th of July, 1879, the time specified by law. The act chartering the company and making the grant provides that in case of a breach of contract by the company, congress may use the lands to secure completion of the road, and as that end is now being attained as rapidly as possible, the company maintains that there is no occasion for congressional interference. The executive department of the government, it seems, has thus far proceeded upon the theory that no portion of the land grant is forfeited. A few months ago the president approved 350 miles of the road, and patents were issued for lands earned by construction of that portion of the line in accordance with the original grant.

A Disreputable Job.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Times special: Congress should make short work of the attempt to admit New Mexico into the union as a state. The territory is unprogressive and is incapable of progress. It is one of the few commonwealths in this republic in which it is necessary to print laws, reports of legislative proceedings and official advertisements in a foreign language. The majority of the population is of the mongrel breed, known as "greasers." This mixture is of Spanish, Mexican, negro and Indian stock. There is a great gulf fixed between this mixed race and the American settlers in language, religion, traditions and mental characteristics. These two elements of population are wholly dissimilar, and to admit to statehood a community of this small number and heterogeneous character would be a travesty on popular government. The bare suggestion of the proposition is so palpably absurd it ought to convince congress that somewhere in the scheme lurks a disreputable job.

An Exploded Story.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The Herald says a dispatch from Chicago, published yesterday, in which it was announced that Leo XIII was about to appoint a papal delegate to the United States as a spiritual and temporal representative of the vatican, caused a great deal of surprise in Catholic circles in this city. A reporter called last evening on his eminence, the cardinal, and afterwards on Mgr. Quinn, vicar general of the diocese. Father Quinn smiled, and at once pronounced it unfounded. He spoke of its connection with the name of Fitzgerald, of Little Rock, as a jest. Neither the cardinal nor he had any official instruction that such an appointment was contemplated, and he did not think it ever would be made, or that there would ever be any occasion or necessity for it.

A Statement Wanted.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The Tribune has the following: It is asserted with great positiveness by those who are in a position to know about the recent purchase of a half interest in the Atlantic & Pacific road, that New York men, who are expected to take two-thirds of the new issue of $18,000,000, have decided that some understanding must first be reached in regard to the future policy of the road and its extensions. Persons who control the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad, have, it is said, informed the Boston company that it is desirable to have a settlement of certain points in dispute before any allotment of subscription is made. It is thought the adjustment will be arrived at without resort to the courts.

County Seat War.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—St. Paul special says: Grant county, Dakota, is embroiled in a county seat war. The county records are at Big Stone City in defiance of an alleged judicial decision that Milbank was designated as the county seat last November. Lately two county commissioners tried to remove the records to Milbank, supported by two or three hundred armed citizens, but a similar force at Big Stone prevented them. A special says fully three hundred armed men are now at Big Stone and threaten to shoot whoever attempts to remove the safe. They have it barricaded, and have Indians to help them and defy its dislodgment.

Failed to Come to Time.

There was considerable excitement among firms doing business to-day on account of the non-appearance of Henry J. Jagger, who is alleged to be a defaulter in the sum of $7000. Jagger has been for several years doing a commission business with his brother Philip. The firm had good credit until Philip withdrew, when Henry had a hard time, establishing his credit eventually however. He secured considerable advances and had bought last week a number of cattle on time. This morning he failed to appear at the yards or at his office. Losses range from $200 to $1800 and are distributed among a large number of firms. Jagger was a young man of good habits and has a wife and two children, who believe he is still in the city.

Hearing an Argument.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 6.—Justice Miller, of the U. S. supreme court, and Judge McCrary, to-day heard distinguished counsel argue on the application of the Pullman Palace Car Company for an interlocutory injunction against the Missouri Pacific railway management pursuant to the temporary injunction already granted against the use of Wagner sleepers and cars on the Missouri, Pacific and Iron Mountain, and against interference with Pullman cars.

Serious Illness of John McDonough.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5.—John E. McDonough, the actor, is very low. He had a bad day, and it is thought he will die of exhaustion rather than from the cancer in his throat, which does not appear to have made any further inroads. He has taken little nourishment for several days, and has subsisted on champagne and liquors entirely. Most of to-day he was out of his mind, and declaimed from his plays almost constantly.

Sentenced to be Hanged.

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., Feb. 6.—Wm. Neal was sentenced to be hanged Feb. 14, for the murder of Fannie Gibbons at Ashland. In a speech he protested his innocence. Ellis Craft will probably be sentenced to-morrow for the same date.

Church Burned.

RACINE, Wis., Feb. 6.—The First Methodist church burned yesterday. The church cost $38,000 and the organ $3000, and the destruction of both is complete. Insurance $15,000.

The Seattle Fever Spreading.

LYNCHBURG, Feb. 6.—A crowd at Sycamore were threatening to lynch Yeates the Pittsylvany murderer but the authorities railroaded him to the county jail on a fast mail train.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

The Coldest for Years.

ST. JOHNS, Feb. 5.—The heaviest snow storm in four or five years began early this morning and continued with great violence accompanied by severe cold. A number of people have been frost bitten.

"I was confined to my bed for four months," says Mr. Charles Lowe, 508 East Eighteenth street, New York, "with the rheumatism, and can say that the use of three bottles of St. Jacobs Oil made me a sound man." It is regarded here as the greatest remedy of the age."

A PROSPECTIVE MILL.

Ryan and Sullivan Meet on the New Orleans and Mobile Railroad To-day for a Prize Fight.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 5.—Dr. Austin, a noted physician, has professionally examined Ryan and Sullivan, and he says if Ryan does not win no one can satisfy him that he did not throw the fight for more money than he could gain by winning. "Sullivan," said he, "is powerfully built in arms and shoulders, but woefully deficient in loins and legs, where one looks for endurance. Ryan is a study. He is built from his heels up. His legs and loins are grand, and the muscles of his back and shoulders though small are powerful. He is able to stand punishment all day." It is rumored on the streets that several car loads of roughs are on their way here for the purpose of raising a disturbance if their man does not win. The police commissioners have ordered 100 men to the grounds to preserve order. Ryan and Sullivan left this evening for the grounds, which are about two hours' ride from the city.

Notes from the Great Prize Fight.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 6.—Everything is in readiness for the Ryan-Sullivan excursion to-morrow. The Bertren train, embracing 32 passenger coaches, will leave at 4 A. M. It is understood the battle ground will be between Rigolett and Pass Christian. The Chicago, Cincinnati and Memphis contingents arrived to-night. Betting continues about even. During the day it was reported the governor would stop the fight, but he was assured positively the battle would be beyond the state line. A point on the New Orleans & Mobile railroad within the limits of Louisiana had been selected, but the action of the governor made necessary a change. It looked at one time as if the mill would be postponed, but late in the evening Sullivan agreed to the choice of a place beyond Louisiana. He would not, however, sign new articles. A very large crowd assembled at the Mobile depot in the afternoon to witness the departure of the pugilists. Ryan and his seconds, James Dunn, Mooksly and Tom Kelly, of St. Louis, left the train intending to be over the state line and take the train in the morning. Sullivan remained in the city. Both men are in fine form and say they are ready to enter the ring at any moment. Tickets for the excursion costing $10 sold rapidly. The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. have provided coaches having a capacity of over three thousand passengers. About two thousand persons go from this city. The hour of departure is fixed at 5 A. M. The apprehension of a free fight at the ring is felt which may break up the mill. New Orleans sports men say they will do all in their power to secure fair play.

No Duel after All.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—There was no duel to-day between Henry Gay Carleton, a literary man, and Edgar Wakeman, correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal. They met and talked calmly and came out separately and invited various newspaper friends who were watching eagerly the place for blood, to step up to the bar and take a drink. There will be a little explanation by Wakeman which will satisfy Carleton. The news fraternity have made fun over the two and have played many pranks and jokes upon them.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Movements in Aid of the DeLong Party.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Extra Washington: Secretary Hunt received the following cable dispatch from James Gordon Bennett at Paris this morning: Your dispatch received. Since you have decided to send as I defer to your judgment. Will you kindly let me know their names, whether junior or senior to Danenhower in rank, and by what steamer they sail and when they will arrive in Paris, as I may be of service in forwarding them to their destination. The steamer Lena, which by Siberiakoff's kindness has been tendered me, is of course at their disposal. My correspondent, who is almost at Irkutsk, will know that the expedition is to be in charge of officers of the U. S. navy and will go simply as Herald correspondent.

Secretary Hunt also received the following cable dispatch from Acting Minister Hoffman at St. Petersburg this morning: "Danenhower acknowledges orders and will proceed later." This is in reply to the dispatch ordering Danenhower to proceed home as an invalid.

Delay of the Chinese Bill.

The postoffice appropriation bill having been under consideration when the house of representatives adjourned last Saturday will come up as unfinished business to-morrow and so soon as it is disposed of the apportionment bill will have the right of way, because of the stipulation which accompanied the assent of to-morrow for consideration of the Chinese bill, namely, that the special order which was obtained in behalf of the latter measure should in no way interfere with the apportionment bill. The special order will therefore have to be laid aside for the Chinese bill, and it may be obstructed by one or more of the annual appropriation bills now awaiting action. But there is a disposition on the part of the leaders of the house to accommodate the justly expressed wishes of the Pacific coast men in this matter and the delay is therefore not to be of long duration.

Comment on Promotions.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—There is much comment tonight on President Arthur's nominations of Col. Rucker and Maj. Rochester as quartermaster general and paymaster general. Rucker stands next to General Meigs in line of promotion, but he is already long past the retiring age, and hence his appointment is considered simply as a means to provide for retiring him soon on the rank and pay of brigadier general. Rucker's record as a soldier is extremely good, however, and there appears to be only partial foundation for the common belief that his promotion is wholly to influence of his son-in-law, General Sheridan. Maj. Rochester's appointment is very severely criticised on account of the way, which seems to call for some explanation, that he is made to jump over the heads of about a dozen senior officers.

An Evil to be Remedied.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Under existing treaties, matter printed in Canada comes into this country for about a cent a pound while some classes of matter printed in the United States pay postage of a cent on every two ounces. Many publishers complain of this condition, and United States postal authorities propose in effect that any second class mail matter mailed in Canada and purported to be printed in United States territory on behalf of any persons or firms doing business in the United States shall pay the United States postal rates. Canada now could adopt any regulations calculated to remedy the evil.

Not to be Investigated.

The passage of the resolution in the house to-day calling upon the state department to supply names omitted from the letters by Shephard to that department relative to the Peruvian Co. it is said will bring to light the names of two or three senators were interested with Shephard. Senator Blair is prepared to make a public explanation of his relations to the matter, in which it is represented that he was informed by the officers of the state department for accepting his retainer that the subject could never come before congress as it was purely a private enterprise.

Shephard Letters.

Several members of congress beside Belmont had prepared resolutions calling upon the president for the Shephard letters, and for all names on file in the state department relating to or alleged to be connected with the Peruvian Company. The report is that Shephard had used names of prominent men without any authority. A member of congress and editor of a paper, says he has been informed that Shephard included his name among others. The member says: "I never had the remotest idea of any interest in his scheme. From its very nature I knew it would have to come before congress and therefore it possessed no temptation for me." It is reported that Shephard's list contains the names of many of the most distinguished stalwarts.

Cannon's Reasons for Delay.

Tribune's Washington special: George Q. Cannon has asked a hearing before the house judiciary committee and assigned as a reason for delay the recent death of one of his wives. His opponents assert that this motion is made merely for delay, and that his visit to the city the other day was for the purpose of securing the co-operation of certain large mercantile firms having extensive dealing with Zion's Co-operative Association, to obstruct legislation which would affect the existing condition of things in that territory.

A Sutro [illegible] Bill.

In the house, Rosecrans to-day introduced a bill granting the San Francisco and Ocean Shore Railroad Co. a right of way through Presidio and Black Point military reservations. This portion of the road is to be constructed and operated under such regulations as army officers may prescribe, subject to approval of secretary of war. It is understood that the road will be brought through a corner of Presidio by means of a tunnel.

A Most Potent Reason.

Cannon the Mormon delegate has asked the house judiciary committee to postpone action on the Shellabarger bill to suppress polygamy, one reason which he gives being his own grief at the news of the death of one of his wives. He desires to be heard by the committee before the bill is acted upon. It has been decided to postpone hearing until Wednesday.

Retirements and Promotions.

Brevet Maj. Gen. Meigs, quartermaster general, and Brig. Gen. Nathaniel W. Brown, paymaster general, have been placed on the retired list to-day, and the president sent the following nominations to the senate: Col. Daniel H. Rucker, assistant quartermaster general, to be quartermaster general vice Gen. Meigs retired; and Maj. W. B. Rochester to be paymaster general vice Brown, retired.

Retirements and Promotions.

Col. Pinkney Lugenbeel retired to-day. The retirement of Surgeon General Barnes is in abeyance, pending probable action of congress retiring him with advanced rank. The senate confirms W. S. Armstrong, of Pennsylvania, commissioner of railroads, and Geo. A. Tripp, commissioner of Warner of Arizona, U. S. Vaile, and Geo.

The secretary of the treasury to-morrow issues the 108th call for redemption of continued fives to the amount of $20,000,000, payable about the 1st of April and interest.

Defreycinet, president of council, replied that revision of the bill was the work of the house and not for the government. At present inseparable obstacles stood in the way of immediate revision by the government, which would undertake the matter when the proper time arrived. A resolution favoring the cabinet in their firm resolve to realize the reforms demanded was adopted—287 to 66.

AN INQUIRY.

PORTLAND, Feb. 6.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Will you kindly allow me through the medium of your columns, to ask the editor of THE SUNDAY OREGONIAN and Mr. William Reid to rise and explain the grounds on which they base their assertion that real estate in Portland is overpriced. Let them first inform the public what has caused the rise, and then by comparison with other cities equally advantageously geographically placed, and of equal commercial importance, show the grounds on which they base their assumptions. Also let them show the relative proportions of mortgages and releases going to record at the present time. Such is the only method that will convince the public. Let us have logic in place of assertions.

The Attack on the Northwest.

Oregon State Journal.

We have received a marked copy of the New York World containing a ferocious attack upon the Northern Pacific railroad's land grant. This may be popular in the east and may suit the purposes of the unscrupulous demagogues who are pulling the democratic wires in Oregon. But to break down the credit of that company again, which would probably be the result of taking away its land grant, and delay the completion of the road another ten years, would be a great injury to the people of Oregon.

It is mighty funny. The star routers didn't like Garfield, and he was assassinated. They didn't like MacVeagh, and he disappeared. They didn't like Blaine, and he retired. They didn't like James, and he had to go. The truth is, the star routers appear to be a busy and powerful gang.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.

Morgan offered a concurrent resolution for a reciprocity treaty between the United States and Mexico. Ordered printed and tabled.

Williams made a tariff speech on the Morrill bill.

Senate then resumed consideration of [illegible] which declared that the [illegible] ought not to be repealed.

Ingalls moved to modify the amendment declaring in favor of pensions to survivors of the Mexican war so as to limit it to those needy or disabled. Ingalls in the course of a short speech said the soldiers were not aware of the proportion which the casualty lists bore during the war. The grand total of pensionable cases prima facie on the rolls of the war department was 620,[illegible], that is to say there were that many cases entitled to pensions if every man who died had a dependent relative, and every one discharged for disability had a dependent relative, and every one discharged for disability had a claim. Since 1860, 48,[illegible] pensions had been granted by reason of death or disabilities so there was still according to the war department rolls, 2[illegible] pensionable cases in which no applications at all had ever been made. This was conclusive answer to the charge that the pension list had been swollen by fraud and we may hereafter look for very large accessions to the roll without any presumption of fraud to the aggregate of cases placed there. It was true the aggregate required to pay pensions was stupendous, but this was because war itself was gigantic and colossal. Ingalls had something to say of himself and his traducers and was followed by Hawley.

Without action the resolution was laid aside for executive session.

Bills were introduced by Hill (Colorado) for cancellation of illegal entries and sales of public lands and for refunding purchase money.

After executive session senate adjourned.

House.

Belmont offered a resolution for a transcript of Jacob R. Shephard's letters and replies on file in the state department, and copies of any other letters not already communicated, from which the names of persons and firms have been omitted, and requesting the president to state what measures can be taken to recover letters declared to be missing from files of the department; adopted.

Springer introduced a resolution asking the president for information as to the right or authority under which the republics of North and South America were invited to send two commissioners to a peace congress in Washington in November, 1882; adopted.

By Robinson, of New York, directing the attorney general to communicate to the house his opinion in writing on the following questions: If Joseph Warren Keifer, speaker of the house, or Alonzo B. Cornell, or Charles Carroll, a laborer under the department of public works of the city of New York, each being citizens of the United States, should visit any part of the British empire, and should there be arrested without having committed any crime, or having any crime definitely alleged against him, could the English government, by suspending habeas corpus, or otherwise lawfully detain him on an indefinite suspicion without trial and without any right in our government to demand his release. Also his opinion on the application of the law of July 27, 1868, to such cases and the president's duty under it. Also calling on the secretary of the treasury for terms of the contract for printing revenue stamps or bank checks, and for information as to whether parties holding contracts are citizens of the United States or subjects of a foreign government.

Burrows of Michigan moves to suspend the rules and pass the bill defining the qualifications of territorial delegates in the house of representatives. It provides that no person who is guilty of bigamy or polygamy shall be eligible to a seat in office as delegate from any territory. The house was in an inattentive mood, and when the speaker put the question there were few responses. He however declared the motion carried and bill passed. It was only then that a burst of laughter apprised many members of the measure which had been adopted.

Page and Rosecrans introduced resolutions to reorganize the courts of the United States and to provide for appellate courts.

Mills, of Texas, introduced a resolution calling on the secretary of the interior for information as to the number of acres public land that have been granted by congress, both directly to corporations and through states, what railroads have been subsidized, and number of acres granted to each, and also directing him to report to the house the net earnings of the Kansas Pacific, Union Pacific and Central Pacific, central branch of the Union Pacific Company, and the Sioux City and Pacific roads, from the commencement of operation of each of said companies to the present time. Referred to committee on public lands.

Bayne, of Pennsylvania, offered a resolution stating that Thomas Shields and two other citizens, confined in jail in Mexico for breach of civil contract, wrote Minister Morgan but received no answer, and directing the secretary of state to examine into the matter and report the facts to the house; adopted.

Belltzhoover, of Pennsylvania, and Converse, of Ohio, obtained leave to print in the record amendments which they proposed to offer to the apportionment bill.

The Beltzhoover amendment makes it unlawful for any county or parish in formation of any representative district which shall consist of more than one county or parish to be any but those counties or parishes which are most nearly contiguous.

The Converse amendment provides the whole population of the United States shall be divided by 319 and the quotient shall be the ratio of representation, and that when any state shall have a fraction above the ratio so large, that when multiplied by five the result will be reduced to one or more ratios, additional representatives shall be appointed to such ratios among the several congresses of the next decennial period in the following manner: If there be only one ratio the representative shall be allotted to the fifth congress of the decennial period, namely: the 52d congress. If there be two ratios the representative shall be allotted to the fifth or fourth periods, namely: the 52d and 51st congresses. If there be three ratios the representative shall be allotted to the fifth, fourth and third periods, namely: the 52d, 51st and 50th congresses, and if there be four ratios the representative shall be admitted to the fifth, fourth, third and second periods, namely: the 52d, 51st, 50th and 49th congresses.

Joyce, of Virginia, moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill for appointment of commissioners on the subject of alcoholic liquor traffic.

Bragg, of Wisconsin, demanded a second, and the motion was seconded. A vote was then taken upon adoption of the motion and lost—yeas 112, nays 93—not the necessary two-thirds in the affirmative. This was strictly a party vote, except Beltzhoover, Culberson, Jones of Arkansas, Ladd, Simonton and Vance, who voted with republicans in the affirmative, and Davis of Illinois, Young and Gunther of Wisconsin, with the democrats in the negative.

"DER DRUMMER."

"One of the Two Hundred or More" Speaks for "The Road."

PORTLAND, Feb. 6.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Your editorial in this morning's issue of your paper entitled "The Drummer Affliction" is rather a one-sided view of the case and calls from the "two hundred or more" of that fraternity an answer.

You certainly did not enter into any calculations in writing this article or you would have figured a large percentage in favor of the buyers in the northwest, saying nothing of the business brought to your hotels, railroads, steamboats, etc., by "drummers." Taking your estimate of 200 travelers at an average expense of $10 per day and you have $730,000 disbursed in sustaining your hotels and lines of travel.

Now, Mr. Editor, it does not need much study on your part to calculate how much money would be spent by the merchants of Oregon, Washington territory, Idaho, Montana, etc., were they compelled to go to San Francisco or Portland for the purchase of their goods, to see upon which side of the ledger the balance remains. Your assertion that the merchant has to pay the traveling men more for his wares than he can buy the same for by going to the market is incorrect. The traveler, or "drummer," as you style him, is soliciting trade and is forced to offer inducements to secure the same; per contra, when the merchant comes to the market it is known that he is there to buy, and not only has he to pay his expenses to and from the market—be it San Francisco or Portland—but full prices for his goods. The case of the "eastern Oregon merchant" you cite as having saved $600 by going to the market himself is preposterous. In the first place he would have to buy $20,000 at 20 per cent under the travelers' prices to save this amount, or $40,000 to save 10 per cent. Every wholesale house in San Francisco or Portland will tell you without hesitation that their "drummers" have lower figures than usually given at home.

Your idea of sending out samples of different goods to the buyer is wholly out of the question. As for instance, say your clothing, boot and shoe, dry goods houses, etc., were called upon to send samples of their different make and style of goods to each of their customers throughout the country, with the high rate of freight charged by all lines on this coast, wherein is the saving to the buyer, saying nothing of the additional stock the wholesaler must carry and upon which he must charge interest in the way of profit.

In conclusion, were your ideas to be carried out, who would sustain your hotels, stage lines, etc.

Respectfully, "ONE OF THE 200 OR MORE."

By all means take the darling to Abell's, where a first-class photograph of the pet one can be secured. For sample of this and other work, refer to any one, or examine display.

Carpenters Organizing.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5.—A meeting of carpenters and joiners was held to-day for the purpose of organizing a local union in connection with the brotherhood of carpenters and joiners of America. Organizing a Warfare on Bugs.

IONE, Feb. 5.—A meeting of fruit growers of Amador county was held here yesterday for the purpose of adopting measures by which successful war might be waged against damaging insects to fruits. It is reported that great ravages are made on fruit and trees by codling moths and other insects in that county. The fruit men unanimously determined to wage a war of extermination against these enemies, and steps were taken to organize a fruit growers' association and a meeting was called for that purpose on April 8th.

A Lynching Case Probable.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6.—At 10:30 this morning Joseph Hurtado shot and instantly killed Jose Antonio Estuardo on the corner of Front and J streets. It was a deliberate assassination growing out of the arrest of Hurtado a few days ago for assaulting Estuardo. The murdered man was married and he always bore the reputation of a quiet, peaceable citizen. Hurtado has been in many shooting scrapes and killed a man in this city some three years ago. The community is in a state of excitement and lynching is not at all improbable.

Congressional Promises.

At the annual meeting this evening of the board of trade, communications were read from Senator J. F. Miller and Congressmen H. F. Page, Pacheco and C. B. Berry promising to do all in their power to accomplish their wishes expressed in resolutions of the board concerning Chinese immigration, survey of public lands, introduction of civil government in Alaska, restoration of American mercantile marine and signal service stations on the Pacific.

YAZOO AGAIN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I herewith hand you a letter from Judge Calhoun on that Yazoo question, which I would like you to publish, together with the original paragraph, (herewith handed you), of which it is an explanation, so that the public can understand the whole issue. Of course you simply copied what you found reported in the papers and you are not chargeable with that mean suppression of truth which is thus exposed.

A CITIZEN OF OREGON.

February 6, 1882.

[From the Oregonian, Dec. 29, 1881.]

Judge Calhoun of Yazoo county, Miss., in a charge to the grand jury of the county delivered on the 28th of last month, said that "for six years he had charged the grand juries in his court ten times each year," and yet it was true that "no man, not even the judge or foreman of the jury, has any assurance, so far as protection afforded by law is concerned, that upon leaving the court house his brains would not be blown out and the perpetrator of the deed go unpunished." This, we believe, is the same Yazoo which a citizen of Oregon undertook to prove by a letter from the governor of Mississippi to be one of the most law-abiding sections of the whole union.

THE LETTER FROM JUDGE CALHOUN.

CANTON, Miss., Jan. 16, 1882.

Col. Garnett Andrews, Yazoo City, Miss.—My Dear Sir: Your favor 12th inst. covering letter from Sidney Dell, Esq., of 12th ult., herewith returned, was duly received. The report is, in the main, accurate but fails to state the connection in which the language was used. I was referring to the fact that we seemed to be now in a saturnalia of crime which pervaded the civilized world, that murders seemed not to shock the sensibilities of the people as they did formerly, and that acts of outrage were more frequent because of their immunity from punishment, arising from a maudlin sympathy in the public pervading the jury boxes. So far from making my own district or Yazoo county exceptional in this regard, I referred expressly to the improved condition in this part of the state in the last few years. I did say, however, that there was still great room for improvement, and that we were far behind the civilization of England, which I placed at the head of enlightened nations. I do not feel sure of the propriety of dignifying the squib with a public explanation.

LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY,

120 Broadway, New York.

LIFE INSURANCE PROFITS DEMONSTRATED BY ACTUAL SETTLEMENTS MADE PRIOR TO 1882.

The Society is now paying maturing Tontine Policies with the following remarkable results:

POLICIES CARRIED TEN YEARS WITH THE RETURN OF ALL PREMIUMS PAID AND INTEREST THEREON.

1st Example: Policy No. 43,553, issued May 25, 1869. Amount ... $10,000 00
Total premiums paid (11 years) ... 5,604 60
The assured was entitled to draw, in cash, $6,455.80, having had besides $10,000 of assurance for eleven years. 115 per cent. of premiums paid, returnable in cash.

This example and those which follow show that

LARGER PROFITS ARE PAID POLICY-HOLDERS THAN ARE NOW DECLARED BY ANY OTHER COMPANY.

2d Example: Policy No. 55,543, issued Dec. 30, 1870. Endowment 20 years. Tontine Period ten years. Amount ... $10,000 00
Total premiums paid (10 years) ... 7,630 00
The assured on Dec. 30, 1880, was entitled to draw in cash, $9,033 30, 120 per cent of the premiums paid.
These results, although predicted by carefully made estimates, are

NOT ESTIMATES, BUT ACTUAL CASH RETURNS.

3d Example: Policy No. 41,621, issued March 27, 1869. Amount ... $5,000 00
Total premiums paid ... 2,908 95
In this case the assured withdrew, March 27, 1880, in cash, $3,312 45, being 114 per cent. of premiums paid.
Many policies will be thus paid in 1882, showing

CASH RETURNS OF FROM 100 TO 120 PER CENT. OF THE PREMIUMS PAID.

Assets securely invested of $43,000,000. Surplus, nearly $10,000,000. The Society's popularity is shown by the fact that for the past eleven years the total amount of new policies issued has been greater than that of any other company in existence, thus making its average

ANNUAL NEW BUSINESS LARGER THAN THAT OF ANY OTHER COMPANY.

The Society pays death claims promptly and in full. Its policies are clear and concise, and with no unreasonable conditions.

EVERY POLICY BECOMES INCONTESTABLE AFTER THREE YEARS.

TUESDAY MORNING, FEB. 7, 1882.

OUR "ANTI-MONOPOLISTS."

The Pacific coast is connected with the east only by railroads which terminate in California. All these roads, as dispatches of to-day inform us, have formed a "pool." The business is to be divided between them. Rates, of course, are to be kept up to the highest figures which the traffic will bear. This is one great step in the movements of the allied monopolies which are conspiring and struggling to hold the Pacific coast in their common grasp. The other part of their programme is to arrest the progress of the Northern Pacific. To accomplish this they are inciting the war on the Northern Pacific's land grant. If they can only delay, or still better, destroy, the Northern Pacific as a through line, they will have opportunity to perpetuate their pooling arrangement. Then they will be able not only to rob and oppress the people of the whole Pacific slope, but they will prevent the independent developement of the northwest, which would be a sure consequence of the success of the Northern Pacific railroad.

It is this oppressive and gigantic monopoly—a monopoly bent upon holding us of the northwest in perpetual vassalage—that pretended anti-monopolists here are favoring when they join in the crusade against the independent northwestern railroad. Consistent anti-monopolists they are who work in the interest and pay of the New York and California combination! Our own railroad system, the system which has been waited for and hoped for under the conviction that it was the one great thing necessary to the developement of our state and the whole northwest, is but partially constructed, and as yet is only to a very limited extent in operation. It has had no chance yet to accomplish anything for itself or the country. The system is in the era of inception, in the period of construction. It has difficult mountain chains to pierce and great distances to traverse. It passes through a country of sparse population, and finds great difficulty in obtaining an adequate supply of labor. But this system of railroads—our own system, the system on which all our prospects confessedly depend—is not to be given a chance, even at home. It is our sole hope for deliverance; and yet it is denounced as an oppressive monopoly, and aid and comfort are given from here to the monopolists in California, New York and Washington, who want to destroy it. The great allied monopoly, we hear, is egging on the so-called anti-monopoly press and orators of Oregon, finding here a set of "jayhawkers" who would sell the birthright of their country for paltry sums nominally given as subscriptions to worthless publications, or supplied as viaticum to dead-beats who traverse the country to misrepresent and malign the great enterprises on which all the prosperity of the northwest depends.

These are the "anti-monopolists" who are making the attack upon the Northern Pacific at this end of the line. They are doing the work of the combined monopolies which have effected the pooling arrangement for the traffic of the Pacific coast, reported to-day. If through the completion of the Northern Pacific the trade of the great northwest should break away from that pool, and our section should enter upon an independent development, under the stimulation of its own activities, no doubt our pretended anti-monopolists of press and rostrum would sorrow as "strikers" without a hope and as "jayhawkers" without an occupation.

THE GREED OF "PROTECTION."

The Bessemer steel men of Pennsylvania have found an instance where protection pinches, and with characteristic assumption have asked congress to modify the tariff laws in their interest. They want a certain class of Canadian iron ore used in the Bessemer process admitted free of duty, but do not suggest the importance or fairness of a corresponding reduction in the tariff on steel rails. Nor do they want iron ore other than the peculiar quality which they must import admitted free, as it would reduce the price of the Pennsylvania product. In other words, the demand is for free import for the manufacturer and high tariff for the consumer, so that the latter must buy of the former at whatever price he chooses to put on his goods. The present duty on iron ore is 20 per cent. ad valorem, or about 60 cents per ton. The total number of tons imported last year was 821,073 of the value of $1,724,885. These ores are used in the Pennsylvania Bessemer steel works and in Ohio, and the scheme of tariff relief is of course supported by Pennsylvania and Ohio protectionists. To give the matter a better face it is proposed to make a barter with Canada by which she will admit American coal to her markets free of duty. The measure is opposed by the owners of small mines on Lake Superior in the United States, who furnish ore of the quality required and are, of course, enabled by the tariff to get high prices. They claim protection as their right and upon the ground that similar interests in Pennsylvania and other states are protected.

John Roach, a conspicuous sufferer under the protective system, is appealing for a change in the tariff laws in his own personal interest. He asks one committee to grant him a subsidy upon the tonnage he builds and another to knock off the tariff from iron used in shipbuilding. Mr. Roach claimed in a recent interview that he was much more interested in the subject in his capacity as ship-owner than as ship-builder. He was so self-sacrificing and disinterested in the matter that, if he thought it would be better for the American merchant marine to have free ships, he would willingly close out his shipyard. His statements were largely a repetition of those he has hitherto made before congressional committees and outside conventions and in the press. Among his remarks were the following in substance. He claimed that the question of building up an American merchant marine was more a question of national defense than of carrying goods. He admitted that it cost 10 per cent. more to build iron steamships in this country than it cost to build the same class of vessels in England.

Thus the fine patriotic theories of the most extreme protectionists vanish into very thin air when the tariff happens to affect their own interests.

SPREAD OF SMALLPOX.

It is admitted by the health authorities in most of the eastern states that this foulest of diseases has been steadily gaining ground in this country for two or three years. Now here and now there, in a large city, in a remote village, or in a farming neighborhood it breaks out with a virulence that sweeps everything before it for awhile, and then dies out and apparently leaves the place. Why is this? A leading journal truly says that a rational explanation of its course in one village would be of inestimable service to the whole country in showing the means of avoiding it. The explanation is simple enough. We account for its increase during the last three years by the general neglect of vaccination by the uneducated classes, and by the utterly insufficient means even in the largest and best ordered community to guard against its spread or to take proper care of the patients. What smallpox hospitals are in most of our cities we all know too well; but as to what becomes of smallpox patients where there are no hospitals it is not best to inquire too closely. In the city of Pittsburg, for example, wealthy and generous as she is, there was a month ago no shelter for the poor wretches smitten with this disease, and the story goes that they were quartered on boats and anchored out in the middle of the Ohio. The ice breaking up in the night, the miserable creatures got up and sat shivering in their blankets, momentarily expecting to be plunged into the freezing flood. This instance is cited only to illustrate the universal neglect to provide proper, clean hospitals, nurses, etc., for this disease. When it has once got a foothold in a community, if the theory of anti-vaccinationists were true, there would be no reason why it should not become a permanent curse. As soon as it breaks out, however, there is general vaccination, the disease is isolated as much as possible, and the curse disappears. The suggestions of the national health congress for prevention of the disease, in which vaccination holds the leading place, ought to be carried out in every town and hamlet. There is no reason why civilized communities, with all their knowledge and organization, should be as helpless as the native savages of America were when the scourge broke out among them.

THE DRUMMERS AGAIN.

There are of course two sides to the "drummer" question, and "one of the two hundred or more" puts the case for himself and his fellow-travelers in a letter which we print to-day. The main points in the statement are that the drummer spends his traveling allowance in the state and so supports hotels and transportation lines, and that he makes terms as low or lower than his employers do to merchants who do not buy from travelers. No estimate is made of the amount spent "with the boys," and which does not contribute to the prosperity of the state. The general public, who in the end supply the money which goes into the pocket of the drummer and out of it again, is not interested in the hotel business and cares but little whether it is profitable or not; and the transportation lines would probably serve the people just as well if they never got a dollar from a commercial traveler. At least, the people are not so much interested in hotels or railroad lines as to be willing to contribute $730,000—the estimate given—or any less sum to their support. It may be true that some jobbers demand in their own warehouses the same terms made by a traveler maintained on the road at great expense, but others do not. We have it from a reliable dealer that a stock of goods can be bought from ten to twenty-five per cent cheaper from jobbing houses direct than through drummers. The money paid to traveling men for salaries, expenses, etc., must be made up and of course is added to the cost of goods, and it is foolish to attempt to disguise this. It is not the local merchant, who is merely a middleman, who suffers most, but the people whom he must charge high retail prices because of the exorbitant wholesale rates charged him. There is no kind of goods which cannot be accurately described by letter, and where jobbers are honest, and the business on this coast is generally in good hands, there need be no difficulty in buying goods by letter. Every merchant does this more or less even now.

George C. Gorham has been relieved from duty on the Washington Republican. It was high time. Of all the "stalwart" buzzards in high feather at Washington since the murder of President Garfield, none has been more conspicuous than this maligner of the murdered president and defender of the star-route thieves. He wrote a remarkable editorial the other day abusive of Garfield's retiring postmaster general. Of Thos. L. James he said: "He has fled! We may now pause to contemplate that arrant humbug who cowered among us like some craven renegade whose perfidy averted the glance his notoriety attracted. There was no friend whom he did not deceive; there was no scoundrel whom he did not embrace. Pretending honesty, he consorted with thieves; professing economy, he practiced extravagance; and in the name of reform he accepted without reason and retained without shame an office which he mismanaged. Honesty hung its head in his presence; candor was unknown in his office; blackmailers were his companions, and false dealing was his practice; slander assumed the air of history; there was nothing too low for him to do nor too shameful for him to advocate." Such is a sample of the vile abuse which is heaped upon every man who dares cross the pathway of the political brigands who revel at the national capital. And all because James was pursuing the postal thieves. It was high time for Gorham to "go."

Rev. T. L. Eliot's protest against the "Logan bill" is presented with his usual earnestness; but the position is an ideal rather than a practical one. Consumption of liquors is a fact. There is nothing in the history of mankind which supports the idea that it can be abolished. It is wise, therefore, to recognize its existence as a fact, and to tax the traffic for best purposes. That of public education on the whole seems to be the best cause of any, because it affects the whole people, and the public revenue should not be expended except for a public object. We should not favor the appropriation of the money derived from taxation of liquors to support of inebriate asylums, or even to the support of wives and children of drunkards, because, first, it is a man's own appetite, not the liquor tax, that makes him a drunkard, and government cannot afford to set a premium on the development of this appetite in order that the persons who acquire it may get themselves taken care of; and second, because in the long run it would be no charity to support even the wives and children of drunkards at the public expense. The argument which Mr. Eliot says Logan's bill would put into the mouths of drinkers and sellers, "Here we go to build up our glorious educational system!" might occasionally be used in place of other bar-room twaddle, but it can scarcely be seriously supposed that it would actually cause any increase of drinking. Government, in taxing the liquor traffic, does not approve the traffic, nor urge people to engage in or support it. It simply recognizes the fact that liquors are and will be consumed, and sensibly takes measures to secure a revenue from them. How shall that revenue be expended? We can see no better object than that of public education.

We have no desire to represent the Yazoo country as cursed by ruffians to a greater extent than it actually is. Mr. Sidney Doll appears to think its good name fully vindicated by the letter published to-day. Yet after all we doubt whether it is quite so civil a community as most others, and the letter from Judge Calhoun would seem to furnish just ground for such doubt. He says that the language quoted from his address to the grand jury is "in the main accurate," but the statement should have been added that he was referring to crime all over the civilized world, and to the bad state of public opinion, which allows sympathy with crime to prevail over the law. Yet we should hope there are few parts of the country where a judge, in addressing a grand jury, would have occasion to say that "no man, not even the judge or foreman of the jury, has any assurance, so far as protection afforded by law is concerned, that upon leaving the court house his brains would not be blown out, and the perpetrator of the deed go unpunished." We should take this to be a local allusion to Yazoo, coming as it does from a Yazoo judge, who says that it is "in the main accurate." The remark will certainly not apply to the country at large.

We hold this truth to be self-evident, that the present movement in real estate in this city is chiefly a speculative one. And therefore we think it wise to suggest prudence and caution. "The earth hath bubbles as the water hath." A note which we publish to-day requests a statement by THE SUNDAY OREGONIAN of the grounds on which the opinion is based that real estate in this city is running up into purely speculative values. Some considerations on the subject will be presented in next Sunday's issue.

The Kentucky legislature is discussing a bill to prohibit free passes on railroads. But this movement towards strict propriety is exceeded by another bill which would impose a fine of from $1 to $20 on every Kentuckian who lies; or, to use the language of the proposed statute, on every one "who by word of mouth attempts to deceive his fellow man."

Daniel Webster's birthplace is a farm near Franklin, N. H. G. W. Nesmith, the owner of the farm, has joined a movement started by the citizens of Franklin, Concord and Salisbury, for a local Webster centennial on the old place next June.

The census of Paris, just taken, shows that the city now has a population of 2,225,900, against 1,988,800 in 1876, and 1,851,792 in 1872, the increase has, of course, been greatest in outlying industrial quarters.

Mrs. Swisshelm, in a recent letter said: "As between drowning a country girl and getting her employment in the city, I rather think I'd drown her, and get her out of harm's way."

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6—Midnight—Indications for northern Pacific coast regions, local rains.

CITY.

LET CHINESE GAMBLERS BE INDICTED.—It is generally understood among the gambling fraternity in the city that quite a number of indictments have been found and it is expected they will be served on them within a few days. All the faro games have been closed in hope to escape indictment and many petty gamblers have left town thinking themselves unable to pay heavy fines should they be indicted. It seems that the grand jury ought to treat all alike in this business and at the same time make a clean sweep of all places of the kind in the city limits by bringing indictments if possible against the Chinese gambling dens. They run their games more openly than even the white people, allowing free access from all classes of their nationality. There are three of these places on Second street between Washington and Alder, which can be designated by anyone on account of a bright light swung over the narrow alley ways which lead to the gambling rooms. With all the recklessness they use in allowing Chinamen to come and go, the utmost watchfulness is used to prevent a white man from entering. They generally have a long narrow alley leading into these places, in which are two strong wooden doors with bars. At each door a "lookout" is stationed, and should he see a white man coming into the entrance he closes and bars the doors which he tends, at the same time signals a man at the door next to the room, who does likewise. By this means, a barrier is thrown in the way of any one entering, and should it be an officer, by the time the doors are torn down, the proprietor has cleared his tables, and has a little theater, with music running in full blast, rendering it really hard to convict them of gambling, unless one of the tribe "peaches." Still they can be reached by law if proper efforts are made. The Chinese gamblers should contribute with their white brethren to Multnomah county's coffers.

CAPT. CALL'S COURSE.—Capt. Call, master of the bark Vesuvius, of whose conduct while off the bar much has been said, in speaking to a representative of this paper yesterday made the following statement: No correct account of his trials off the Columbia river had yet been given, and all publications relating thereto had placed him in a false light before the people interested in his vessel. He arrived at the bar on the 19th of December and beat about until the 2d of January, waiting for a tug, during which time the bar was in fit condition to permit vessels to cross either in or out. His crew had been sick with scurvy all this time, and the water aboard having run very short, on that day (Jan. 2) he hoisted a signal of distress, which brought Pilot Olsen to him in a yacht. Olsen said he had no steam up in the tug, and after staying on board until the 4th, advised Capt. Call to make for the Sound, where he could get a fresh crew and a supply of water. They arrived in Puget Sound two days later, and getting all necessaries returned to the bar on the 17th. Here they lay eight days, a tug finally coming to them on the 25th. It is not true that he was discharged from the vessel for disobeying orders in going to the Sound, and says he thought that his only alternative, and that his owners were perfectly satisfied with his course of action. The day before he left the bar for the Sound he had but two able seamen, and he was even confined to his bed.

PUBLIC INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.—The newly elected officers of Bethel Home Lodge, No. 1, I. O. G. T., of the world, corner of Third and D streets, were duly installed by General Deputy Rev. R. S. Stubbs, as follows: Robert Stanton, W. C. T.; Miss Emma Waterford, W. V. T.; James Wilkinson, W. Sec.; W. H. Hunter, W. Chaplain; James Bennett, W. F. Sec.; Chas. Neilson, W. Treas.; Nathan W. Woodruff, W. M.; Eliphey Nunn, Worthy Guard; James Good, Worthy Sentinel; Mrs. F. Olsen, W. D. M.; Mrs. Fanny Chaffee, W. Assist. Sec.; J. A. McCarl, P. W. C. T.; N. W. Woodruff, Lodge Deputy. After the installation the friends present were invited to partake of a generous collation provided by the lodge. Mr. E. Marvin gave two excellent humorous readings, and others contributed musical selections and songs. Captain Thomas Nesbitt, who leaves Portland this morning, and bears with him the grateful remembrances of a large circle of friends, and their best wishes for the successful passage of his ship, the Carnegie, to Europe, bade the lodge good-by. The exercises were very pleasant and satisfactory.

SUES THE CITY.—Olef Olsen, a longshoreman, has brought suit in Justice Bybee's court against the city for $70 for fourteen days' services at $5 per day, as nurse at the smallpox hospital. He was taken there about six weeks ago with a slight case of varioloid, but was never ill enough to be confined to his bed. Like other convalescent patients, he brought in wood, kept up fires, carried provisions from the wagon to the house, and attended to other minor duties, but was not engaged as nurse. When discharged Chief of Police Lappeus gave him a new suit of clothes costing $30, and offered him $10 in coin to pay his board until he might again obtain employment. Since his discharge, Olsen has sent to Mr. Lappeus several shysters, who demanded considerable sums, which were, of course, refused. The city has brought in as an offset against Olsen's claim an account for $130 for medical attendance, board, lodging and the clothes furnished. The case will be heard this week.

ANOTHER PIONEER GONE TO HER REST.—Last evening about 8 o'clock Mrs. A. M. Stephenson, relict of the late John Stephenson, of Fulton Precinct, died at her residence on South Third street, at the ripe age of 78 years and 9 months. Mrs. Stephenson was born near Huntsville, Alabama, in 1803. At her marriage she removed to Parkersburg, Virginia, from which place she immigrated with her husband in 1853 to Oregon and has ever since resided in this county. For her affection for her family, her kindness to her neighbors and her consistent christianity she won the esteem of all who knew her, and her last hours were soothed by the loving hands of many friends, and after an almost painless illness of eight days she calmly passed away. The funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning in the Taylor street M. E. church.

TRIAL POSTPONED.—George Hansen, Wm. Palmer and Thomas Ward were taken before the police judge yesterday, the former on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, and the two latter of assault and battery, preferred by Hansen. On agreement between the prosecuting attorney and counsel for the defense the trial was postponed until Wednesday. It is plain to be seen, judging from several witnesses' version of the affair, that the charge made against Hansen is trumped-up and the prosecuting witnesses in the case had better tell a straight story or they may spend some time between four walls, for malicious prosecution.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—About 6 o'clock yesterday morning William McDonald fell on the icy sidewalk on the corner of Second and F streets, and broke his left thigh bone. He was a stranger in the city, and was looking for the Clarendon hotel, and in walking from the Burton house, to which he had gone by mistake, to the Clarendon, he met with the accident. Dr. G. W. Wells was called to attend the injured man, reduced the fracture and had him sent to St. Vincent's hospital, where he is now resting easily.

SLIGHT FIRE.—About six o'clock last night some lace curtains in the show window of Mellis Bros. & Co. took fire from a gas jet and in less than a minute the whole window was ablaze. The goods were pulled from the window by clerks, thrown on the floor and the flames stamped out. Mr. Dan McAllen, the manager, had his hands painfully burned. The loss is about $150, covered by insurance.

NEARLY EXTINCT.—Not a single case of small-pox in Portland to-day. The residences of Mrs. Budd, Sixth and E, and of Mr. Olsen, on Thirteenth, near F, were thoroughly disinfected last Friday, the patients permitted to leave and the quarantine removed. Only two cases remain at the small-pox hospital, Miss Merton and the Chinaman taken there from the insane asylum.

PURIM ENTERTAINMENT.—The grand Purim masquerade ball of the Y. M. H. A. will take place in New Market theatre March 5. The entertainment will commence with a series of tableaus, among which are: "The Children of Israel worshipping the Golden Calf," "Belshazzar," "Die Loreley," "Lot's Wife" and "Solomon's Temple." The latter will form the last tableau.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC RESUMED.—Yesterday, the Columbia being free from ice for the first time in nine days, the O. R. & N. Co. issued notifications that they were ready to receive freight for all points on their line. Snake river is still blocked above Almota and navigation is carried on to that point. The river will probably be open to Lewiston by the end of this week.

AIR BRAKES.—All the passenger engines and cars on the east side road are being fitted with the Westinghouse air brake. Present travel does not demand this improvement, but the company are preparing for passenger traffic which awaits them upon completion of the line to California.

CHURCH MISSION.—The first service of the Church Mission of the Protestant Episcopal church will be held in Trinity church in this city this (Tuesday) evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Bishop Sillitoe of British Columbia will preach the sermon. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY.—Ah Ung was arraigned in the police court yesterday charged with stealing a pair of boots and a number of pieces of glassware, and after stating in a remarkably round-about way that he was not ready for trial, had his case continued until to-day.

MEETING.—The guild of St. Stephens' chapel, as well as the Mite society, will meet on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the house of Mrs. J. W. Whalley, corner of West Park and Harrison street. A full attendance is requested.

"IT IS NOT YET IN SIGHT."—Every hour of every day OREGONIAN reporters are asked, "Where is the depot to be?" Sheridan, in one of his comedies, burlesquing a certain empty style of writing, says:

The Spanish fleet cannot be seen, because—
It is not yet in sight.

And this is just about the situation with regard to the location of the great depot. But it may be expected to heave in sight almost any time.

AGAIN IN PORT.—The successful navigator, Capt. Carr, his chief officer, Mr. Stanley, and ship's crew of as good men as ever furled a sail, after five years' absence in foreign ports, have again returned to Oregon with the "Ansley Cowper" for another load of cereals for Europe. The vessel was visited Sunday by a large number, including many ladies, who congratulated the chief officer, who was in charge, on the fine model and cleanliness of the craft.

NEW ICE MACHINE.—J. M. G. Kalloch writes to THE OREGONIAN from New York that he has bought from Rankin's factory one of the finest ice machines in the world, which will be shipped this week. James Craft, superintendent of the works, will come out to set up the machine. Mr. Kalloch expects to arrive home about March.

CASE CONTINUED.—The case of Henry Daley of assault with a dangerous weapon on W. B. Gray, on Taylor street, between First and Second, last Saturday, was brought up in the police court yesterday and on motion of the counsel for the defense was continued until to-day.

SELLING LIQUOR TO MINORS.—Tim Malloy was yesterday arrested on a charge of selling liquor to minors, and taken before Justice Davis, where he asked that the examination be postponed until Wednesday, and was released on his own recognizance.

LEE SUN SENTENCED.—Lee Sun, the Chinaman convicted of grand larceny of a number of fine chickens and some farm implements, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Judge Stott yesterday. He will be taken to Salem Thursday, the 9th inst.

BANK AT PENDLETON.—Articles were filed in the office of secretary of state yesterday, incorporating the Bank of Pendleton, with J. L. Sperry, Jesse Failing, J. E. Bean, S. Rothchild and P. Despain as incorporators. Capital stock $100,000.

INCORPORATION.—Amendatory articles of incorporation were filed yesterday in the county clerk's office by the Astoria Packing Co. Capital stock, $7700, divided into 75 shares; incorporators, D. Morgan, Jr., L. C. Kinney and F. J. Taylor; duration, perpetual.

SUNDAY NIGHT'S SHOOTING.

A Statement of the Attack from a Witness—Reckless Firing from Angus' Pistol.

AN OREGONIAN reporter yesterday talked with Capt. Schneider, proprietor of the saloon in which the shooting affray occurred Sunday evening. His statement differs slightly from what has already been given. He said that Arat was not knocked down by Angus, but by one of the latter's friends who entered with him. After Arat was prostrated Angus succeeded in freeing himself from Schneider, drew a revolver and began firing. The first shot struck Arat, who had by that time arisen, in the leg and he started to limp toward the front door, but seeing that Angus was shooting in that direction, turned to go out the back door, Angus firing wildly all the while. Arat succeeded in escaping through the back door, Angus following and firing the last shot which struck Arat in the arm. Schneider then got a piece of a billiard-cue which had been broken in the row, and struck Angus over the head, felling him to the floor. He also said that Arat was a frequent visitor at his place, and had always behaved well while there, and that the attack made upon him was entirely unprovoked. When asked why he thought some one else struck Arat, he said that in the beginning of the row he held Angus, and saw another man beating Arat as he lay on the floor. He showed where three stray bullets had struck; one on the billiard table, one in the wall, and another in a cask. According to his statement the row was begun by one of Angus' friends. He does not know the name of the man who first hit Arat, but would know his face at sight. The last shot fired, which struck Arat in the arm, came so close to Schneider's lips as to cause a stinging sensation which lasted through the night. One bullet passed through the coat of a bystander, striking a buckle and glancing off.

Arat was removed to St. Vincent's hospital about 4 o'clock yesterday morning. His right arm had been fractured several years ago, the bone being shattered and was stiff at the elbow. It is not probable that the limb can be saved from amputation. The wound in his leg is so near the femoral artery that it is liable to give much trouble.

FORMAL TRANSFER

Of the Pacific Coast Steamship Co.'s Property to the O. R. & N. Co.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 6.—The transfer of the Pacific Coast Steamship Co.'s property to the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company was formally made Saturday. From C. H. Prescott, who is stopping at the Palace Hotel, it is learned that whole control had passed from Goodall, Perkins & Co., that firm would still retain the agency, and would also be given the agency of the Oregon company's steamship division, which has up to the present time been vested in Capt. Ostrenderp, at 210 Sansome street. There will be few changes in the steamship company, either in its employes or in the time table. Prospects for the various enterprises of Mr. Prescott's company are most encouraging. That gentleman declares that Oregon presents a fine field for railroad improvements. A circular notice of the consolidation of all offices of the Villard agencies at Goodall, Perkins & Co.'s will soon be issued.

DISASTROUS FIRE.

WESTERN IDAHO NEWS.

Particulars of the Hotel Fire at Sand Point—A Gambler Made to Disgorge, etc.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

VENTNOR, I. T., Feb. 2, 1882.

Last evening about 7:30 o'clock a fire was discovered in the north end of the hotel at Sand Point. Before the alarm could be given or before the excited inmates and citizens knew the danger the frame building was wrapped in flames. Nothing of any value was saved; indeed, nothing could be saved. The building and hotel was the property of Mr. A. J. Weeks, and the loss falls very heavy on him. He estimates his loss at $3000, with no insurance. The origin of the fire is wrapped in mystery, the common opinion being that it was caused by a defective flue. Mr. Weeks was not at home at the time. Mr. C. B. Pond, wife and family of your city, occupied apartments in the house and had not been gone but a few minutes when the fire broke out. Their loss is estimated at $560, they losing all their wardrobe, household effects, jewelry and some $300 in currency, which was in one of the trunks. Mrs. Pond lost some valuable oil paintings, the work of her brother, Mr. Parrott, of Portland. There were several lodgers at the hotel and all lost everything they possessed. One gentleman lost $200 in gold coin. Several lost watches. During the progress of the fire considerable excitement was caused by the report of several firearms. Some one caused a panic by stating the report was caused by giant powder, and that 100 pounds were still in the building. Through all the turmoil no one was hurt. Several buildings were in danger, but the heavy snows on the roofs prevented a general conflagration. Steps are being taken to rebuild the hotel.

Ventnor is growing beautifully smaller owing to the railroad hands being removed to Ellensport and further up the line. Dr. Littlefield's hospital is still here. It is full with patients. Saloons are about all gone.

At Ellensport some days ago a faro dealer, after winning some $250 was compelled at the muzzle of some 15 revolvers held by his victims to disgorge, which he did in short order, and then was ordered to get.

A week ago some Chinamen were stopped by several scamps at the landing at Sand Point and were relieved of $150, all they had. A pair of revolvers were the sureties.

A HIGH COMPLIMENT

For Mrs. Elizabeth W. Andrew, Dean of the Woman's College of the Willamette University.

Professor Ridpath, LL. D., author of Ridpath's History of the United States, and vice-president of Indiana Asbury University, writes the following testimonial in regard to Mrs. Andrew, dean of the Woman's college established at Salem about two years ago, in connection with the Willamette University. The college is in excellent hands and has already become one of the most important features of the university.

I have learned with mingled regard and pleasure that Mrs. Elizabeth W. Andrew, of our state, has been called to a responsible and honorable position in Willamette University, at Salem, Oregon. I say 'with regard', because those who have known her and her good works can but feel a pang in her removal to a distant home. I say 'with pleasure,' because there is not one of her large circle of acquaintances in our state but will rejoice at her promotion and success.

The authorities of Willamette University are to be congratulated on the accession of Mrs. Andrew to their corps of instruction and management. She is a lady in every way fitted to fill the responsible place which she goes to occupy. She will bring sunshine, gladness, intelligence, scholarship and every christian grace to the institution which she enters; and I predict for her therein a career of unusual distinction and usefulness. I have had the honor of an acquaintance with Mrs. Andrew for almost twenty years, and speaking in the light of that acquaintance, I gladly and confidently commend her to the people of Oregon as one of the most zealous, talented and accomplished christian ladies whom I have ever known. Wherever she goes she will win her way, as she has done in our own state, to the hearts of the people; and her place in public affection will be held, as it has been won, by the power of modesty, the meekness of truth and the warmth of generous aspirations. May her future life be as full of usefulness and honor as her past has been radiant with the love and trust of her friends.

Respectfully, JOHN CLARK RIDPATH.

A DISSENTING OPINION.

PORTLAND, Feb. 6.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Permit me to register a dissent from the "Logan bill," to which your editorial of Friday morning referred as meeting with approbation at Washington and in states where the school funds are small. For one, I cannot approve any measure which seems even by implication to connect the liquor traffic or the bounty paid the government for its sufferance, with the education of the people who are cursed by it. The cause of education should rest upon its own merits, and draw from the public treasury directly, for all needed funds. I should favor a law devoting the proceeds of the liquor tax to providing the wives and orphans of drunkards, or for establishing inebriate asylums, or for paying the cost of arrests and convictions, jails and penitentiaries, since there is a significant moral relation between these things and the drinking habit, and the public conscience might derive an education from the act of such statutes. But Logan's bill, making the support of schools dependent upon the income of this trade would put an argument into every drinker and drink seller's mouth, "to help build up our glorious educational system." It is such laws (and fine speeches to the principle of licensing at all) which gradually sophisticate the conscience of society and teach men who are otherwise good, to condone and compromise with living evils. Whatever may be thought of prohibitory laws, and the expediency of enacting them, they at least have this merit, that they press upon the public conscience with educational power, and even the partial failure to enforce them is an argument not, as many would think, in favor of the traffic, but an argument to show us all how much it costs to become when too long tolerated. A prohibitory law is the chief dread of the liquor selling interest, in spite of their assertion of its failure. And why? Because such a law, however evaded, stamps the business as illegal, and a crime.

Perhaps a high license law might have some educational effect on the public conscience, but I confess to serious doubts as to the moral outcome of any licensing system. At best such a system condones the evil, and gives it "belligerent rights." I have written these words in all kindness, not questioning any one's right to differ with me as to the ways and means of restraining this great social curse; but the time is fast coming when every glass and subterfuge should be removed and a traffic which is the chief abettor of crime and misery, costing the government ten times the income from tax and licenses, shadowing every other home in the land with wretchedness, and wielding a giant power over the civil polity, will be circumscribed, made equally accountable, its profits reduced and drinking over counters be made disreputable. An act of congress, turning the income from whisky into an educational fund, does not seem a very brilliant opening for a healthy sentiment upon the question, and a very brief consideration of it, will, I think, arouse indignant remonstrance in every self-respecting community.

T. L. ELIOT.

TUESDAY MORNING, FEB. 7, 1882.

A SALEM LETTER.

SALEM, Feb. 4.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

My visits to Salem are not so seldom as to cause me to notice very marked improvements in the town. Yet I see each time that it is making progress, and having a healthy growth. Now and then new buildings are noticed, white paint and repair keep most of the older ones looking tidy and attractive. More people are noticed on the street than in years agone, and business is manifestly increasing. I have visited the new insane asylum and am surprised at the magnitude of the building and the excellence of its construction; I should say it was one of the best brick buildings in the state. It is designed for four hundred patients, and is expected to be ready to receive them by the close of this year. But a small force is now being employed upon the building, and that mostly convicts. Your morning contemporary has made frequent complaint of the employment of convicts upon this work, and demands that the next legislature shall forbid it. It is estimated a saving of nearly one-half has so far been made by the use of convicts on this work—say $30,000, up to this time. The Standard would have the convicts fed, clothed and guarded in idleness, and taxpayers made to go down in their pockets for this large sum, together with nearly as much more before the building is completed. Let any brilliant disciple of this doctrine run for the legislature upon it. There is not a county in the state where one could come near being elected, while there are some in which he would not get a vote. Take out three or four of the larger towns, where idle fellows most do congregate, and the vote of the candidate of the taxed citizen and idle convict would not anywhere rise above "scattering."

I am informed by the commissioners that upon the arrival by the next steamer of Mr. Boothby, the architect, who has been spending the winter in Oakland, California, for his health, active operations will be resumed and the building carried to completion. It exceeds in dimensions that contemplated by the legislature, and yet I hear from the commissioners that its cost will not much, if any, exceed the $100,000 appropriated to its erection, exclusive of convict labor. This is a different showing from the past. Under the system the state house and penitentiary were built three times that sum would have been consumed.

As the state is in the future to keep the insane, new legislation will be necessary. All there now is on the subject looks to their care by contractors, and if past reports are correct, is mainly in their interest. Efforts have from time to time been made to relieve the state from the unnecessary numbers of mildly insane in that institution, but contractors, with interests adverse to those of the state, have prevented their success. With the abandonment of the contract system will come the withdrawal of the contractors' lobby, and there now ought to be little difficulty in procuring some wise legislation in the interest of the state by which the expense of keeping the insane shall be largely reduced. Mr. A. S. Watt, of Washington, represented that county in the legislature a few years ago, and made strenuous efforts to improve the insane laws, but was defeated by the counter efforts of the contractors' lobby. Consequently he understands the subject well—better than many men in the state; and if he will consent to return and again give it his undivided attention (and he ought to), Washington county cannot so well subserve the interests of the state as by sending him to the legislature this year. It makes little difference to the county or the state who is his preference for U. S. senator, or whether he has any, but it is of great interest to both county and state that the change in the mode of keeping our insane shall be intelligently entered upon. The success of the asylum will, too, depend much on the managing officers of the same. The idea that the superintendent must be a physician seems to have been inculcated to some extent. It is not necessarily so. Whether he is or is not, there will be a physician to the asylum (and if there are two required one should be a woman), and it is not important that the superintendent shall be one. It is, however, important that he shall be a good business manager, which many physicians are not. An institution with some hundreds of boarders needs a keen business oversight, while the regular asylum doctor or doctors are all that is needed of that profession. Dr. Hawthorne was a good manager, and he conducted the business of the establishment well and made much money. He was never its physician, however, and would have filled his place quite as well if he had never been a doctor. A doctor as superintendent is neither objectionable (if he possesses the business qualities) or important; but it is important that that officer shall be able to manage the business of such an institution well.

There is more activity in political circles here than in any part of the state in which I have been. The republicans say that the postoffice here is plotting to control the county convention and secure a legislative ticket for Mitchell. It is also said that the Portland postoffice comes to its assistance in the northern end of the county, and, although Mitchell has few real supporters in the county, they may set up a ticket for him, and owing to the large republican majority here, elect it. However, the postoffice scheme meets with determined opposition from the better class of republicans, and may prove abortive. It is to be hoped it will. The democrats here appear to be in a quiescent state, except the stock beneficiaries of the last state administration, who, having had no treasury drippings for nearly four years, are getting desperately hungry and dry. They made an attempt at the last session of the legislature to recover possession of the patronage of the penitentiary, but were unsuccessful, and now are renewing the effort in an endeavor to bring forward ex-Judge Bonham as a candidate for governor. It proceeds from the local feeders at the public crib during the flush times of the late administration, and if it could succeed would restore them to their old pickings. The scheme is not a very promising one—not much more so than the one attempted with the legislature. The state is republican, and the chances for democratic success at best will be very slim—none at all unless the republicans present a weak ticket. The Bonham candidacy would not be strong at best, and brought forward by and freighted with the leeches of the old administration as it would be, it would ignominiously fail at the polls. It is not likely the democratic convention can be led into such a trap. There is a too vivid remembrance of the extravagance and corruption of that era in the minds of the people to permit any restorationist to come into office. However the convention may be composed, it will be aware of the facts, and of the other fact that their candidate to stand a possible chance of election must by a man of more than very moderate abilities, and so far as complicity with the late administration or its strikers is concerned, like Cæsar's wife, above suspicion. At the same time it is not impossible the convention of that party may be controlled by influences neglectful of the sharp retrenchment and reform the present state administration has enforced, and may give the go-by to Gov. Thayer's administration.

The republicans are likely to renominate their portion of the administration, Secretary Earhart and Treasurer Hirsch, and go before the people "pointing with pride" to the record this administration has made, and comparing it with that of its democratic predecessor. It is claimed they will be able to show that this administration has made a saving of nearly $100,000 a year in the expense of the state and the care of the various funds, not to take into the account the consequent improvement of the moral tone and character of the state by the restoration of honesty and economy. It will be embarrassing to the democratic voters to have it shown also that their convention by its nominations and action, practically disapproved of this work—or at the very least did not affirmatively endorse it. Such facts would tell decisively at the polls. The mass of the people of all parties endorse the financial management of this administration and as they become better informed of its results it will receive the support of every honest man in the state. Such as wish to get their hands into the treasury may pack primaries and conventions, but the voters will undo their work at the polls.

I have heard the names of Mayor Thompson, Col. Thomas Cornelius, W. D. Hare, ex-Speaker Moody, Gen. Odell and C. C. Beekman, or, as his friends familiarly call him, "Beek," favorably spoken of for governor by republicans in different parts of the state. A wise selection could be made from that list, while it would be hard to go astray. In Jacksonville I heard Judge Shattuck warmly urged for the office by democrats; and it must be confessed he would be no second-rate candidate. Governor Thayer, ex-Senator Nesmith and R. B. Cochran also have friends for that office in the valleys of Willamette, Umpqua and Rogue river.

Among republicans I have heard of no candidate for congress except the present incumbent, who it is understood would like to run again. It is said A. J. Lawrence of Baker City and G. K. Shiel of Salem are aspirants for the democratic nomination, but it is not likely either will have any support in the convention or be seriously mentioned.

Washington Territory.

The measles prevail to such an extent among the juveniles of Seattle that the public schools are in a measure depopulated.

The Dayton woolen mills are idle. It has been repeatedly demonstrated that the factory will pay when properly managed. Citizens who are anxious for the prosperity of the town chafe at the continued inactivity of this business, seeing in it a deterrent to the establishment of other industries.

Plans and specifications for a public school building have been prepared for the Seattle school directors. It is to be 78x120 feet, two stories high, with brick basement 10 feet in the clear. From the ground to the top the building will be 150 feet. It will cost when finished something over $20,000.

A southern paper thus rubs it in: Some people will never get through asking foolish questions. A New York paper asks: "Was Grant surprised at Shiloh?" We don't know how it was at Shiloh, but Grant was very much surprised at Chicago. He was more than surprised. He was shocked.
